

PLAN SUBMITTAL PROCESS FOR BLACK FOREST FIRE

Due to the immensity of the fire, there will be a slight modification in the plan review process for plans submitted to reconstruct in that area. According to El Paso County requirements, all plans for reconstruction must be reviewed and released for construction by the appropriate fire district (Black Forest Fire Protection District or Falcon Fire Protection District). Because of the anticipated volume; manage the location of the submitted plans; and expedite the plan review process, the Regional Building Department (RBD) will be issuing an “approval document” with any of the first three scenarios for reconstruction click here. RBD, along with the El Paso County Development Services Department (DSD) will review the plans internally. It will be the responsibility of the person submitting the plans to get the proper information to the Black Forest Fire Protection District (BFF) or Falcon Fire Protection District (FF) for review and eventually the “approval document” signed/ dated and returned to RBD prior to release of the permit.
